Hanna Quits to Take Geneva Position

Trombitas Named Leetonia Principal

LEETONIA — The resignation of George Hanna, principal of Leetonia High School for the past three years, was accepted by the Leetonia School District Board of Education Wednesday night.

High school chemistry teacher George Trombitas was named as his successor.

Hanna's resignation is effective immediately and Trombitas' contract as principal begins Aug. 15.

Hanna quit to accept a position as junior high school principal in the Geneva area consolidated schools. He will move there with his wife and four children this month. He is a graduate of Slippery Rock (Pa.) State Teachers College and did graduate work at West Virginia University and Kent State.

Hanna, who taught earlier at his alma mater in Massillon, Pa., and also coached football there, served three years in the Army.

Trombitas, who has taught chemistry at the high school for seven years, was reared between Leetonia and Lisbon and attended high school at Canfield. He attended Ohio State University then transferred to Youngstown University where he was awarded his undergraduate degree.

The new principal, aged 39, taught physical education at Tuscarawas Warwicke district school in the 1954-55 season before coming to Leetonia High. Prior to en-

The meeting is the first called by the Federal Mediation Board. Commissioner Roach of Akron will be in charge.

Union and management officials held seven meetings before their contract ran out on July 1, but could reach no agreement on wages, length of contract or fringe benefits.

The Thomas Works employs 140 production workers and is the largest employer in the county seat. The employees are members of Local 797, Brick and Clay Workers of America.

2 Integration Leaders Freed

Released From Jail Under Protest

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—Integration leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the Rev. Ralph Abernathy were released from jail today over their protests after someone paid fines for them.

"I don't know who paid it," King said. "We didn't want to leave but we couldn't stay any longer."

"It makes us very, very unhappy," King said.

King and Abernathy both said they were puzzled by their surprise release. They said they had received fine treatment during their stay in the City Jail.

The Negro ministers were convicted in Recorder's Court Tuesday for their part in racial demonstrations last December. They were given a choice of 45 days in jail or $178 fines. Both chose the jail terms.

The police chief of this racially troubled south Georgia city made a personal appeal to Negroes Wednesday night to refrain from violence after stones and clods of dirt were thrown at his officers.

King's jailing set off protest demonstrations by Negroes, resulting in the arrest of 32 Wednesday and Police Chief Laurie Pritchett's appeal for calm.

More protest marches are expected.

Officers on duty near the Shiloh Baptist Church, where Negroes held a mass meeting Wednesday night, summoned Pritchett after the rock-throwing. The officers began moving as if to cross the street toward the church when suddenly several hundred persons, including numerous youths, came out of the church.

Pritchett arrived just then and told the Negroes he wanted to talk with them. Most of them returned inside the building and the tough situation ended, although some officers who accompanied the chief got cat-calls and jeers from some of the Negro youths.

Prior to the appeal by Pritchett, Albany Negro leader Dr. W. G. Anderson urged, in effect, that the Negroes prepare to march again and, if necessary, go to jail. "We feel we must confront this evil system," Anderson said. "If it means going to jail, I'll go to jail because this evil system must be done away with."

Accreditation Given To City Hospital

Salem City Hospital has received full accreditation for another three-year period from the Joint Commission of Accreditation of Hospitals, according to an announcement by Dr. Kenneth Babcock, director.

The effective date was listed as June 14. The hospital has been accredited continuously since 1953 on a full approval basis, according to Robert Rice, acting director of City Hospital.

Americans See Yves Montand Performance

Major Networks To Beam Newscast To Europe July 23

NEW YORK (AP)—The Telstar satellite linked the Old World with the New Wednesday night by relaying French and British television into American homes.

For the first time in history Americans were able to watch a French television program as it was being broadcast.

Several hours later, a program came to TV screens in this country "live" from Goochill Downs, England.

From Outer Space

While the programs originated in Europe both came here by a circuitous route to and from outer space. European signals were beamed skyward to rendezvous with the Telstar satellite.

The 170-pound man-made heavenly wonder picked up the signals magnified them 10 billion times and beamed them down again to this portion of our shrinking earth.

This entire procedure took only milliseconds since television signals travel at the speed of light—186,000 miles per second—and Telstar is never more than 3,500 miles above the earth.

In less technical terms the achievement brought French singer Yves Montand and lovely blonde chanteuse Michele Arnaud onto American screens. The program was so clear it might have been coming from around the block.

Taped Earlier In Paris

The French presentation was taped earlier in Paris for the historic broadcast from Lannion in Brittany and was seen here on all three networks for eight minutes beginning at 6:35 p.m. EST.

Telstar was on its 15th orbit around the earth moving from Newfoundland to the English Channel when it relayed the French signals here. As it moved eastward and out of range at its speed of 16,000 m.p.h. the television picture dissolved into static patterns.

Several hours later CBS made use of Telstar's 16th orbit to relay history's first live show from England to the United States. The 12-minute program featured British officials explaining the transmitter controls at Goochill Downs and praising the American achievement.

Saw 2nd Transmission
Shortly before the France-to-America telecast the British saw a second transmission from the United States via space.

The first time was on Tuesday when pictures beamed by way of the satellite from Andover Maine back to the United States were received unexpectedly in Goochill Downs. However the pictures at that time were scratchy and no sound came through.

Wednesday, the pictures and the sound were described as excellent.

Later, the British station picked up the French telecast via Telstar.

British Broadcasting Co. officials didn't like what they saw this time.

In a television newscast, a BBC commentator accused the French of jumping the gun in bidding to be the first European country to beam an entertainment program across the Atlantic.

The commentator said the French had broken an agreement with the European Broadcasting Union which provided for a joint European television program to be transmitted via Telstar to the United States July 23.

On the same day, the three major American networks will transmit a 15-minute news program to Europe via Telstar.

The date for the exchange was chosen because it is the first on which programs of equal length can be transmitted during successive orbits of the satellite and shown on each continent during normal viewing hours.

The American program will be sent from the giant horn antenna at the Bell Telephone ground station in Andover, to Goochill Downs via Telstar. The English station will relay the signal throughout Europe.

The European program, to be assembled in Brussels, Belgium, will be sent from Goochill Downs

Federal Tax Slash Goes Into Effect

DEATH AIMED AND MISSED — Mrs. Bertha Naomi Dynes, 46, of San Francisco, escaped injury when she drove her car into a telephone pole that extended from the rear of a truck and dolly rig at San Francisco. The pole pierced the windshield and came out the back window. Mrs. Dynes was not even cut by flying glass. She told police she had just let her daughter out of the car and failed to notice the 50 foot pole on the truck.

New Zealand Expels Two Red Diplomats

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP)—New Zealand expelled two Soviet diplomats today on charges of spying.

Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake told Parliament the Russians had sought security information by illicit measures. Both were members of the Soviet legation staff in this capital.

The Russians were identified as V. S. Andreev, a commercial counselor and second ranking official at the legation, and N. I. Shitykov, second secretary and cultural officer.

Given 48 hours Wednesday to leave the country, they packed their bags and set out for Moscow today.

The New Zealand government at first hushed up the expulsion order, but the Soviet legation leaked the news.

The expelled officials had been in New Zealand more than 18 months. Shitykov was generally regarded as the legation's press officer. He had a wife and young son in Wellington and an elder daughter at school in Moscow. Andreev also had his wife with him here.

Sources here said the New Zealand government would not be surprised if Russia severed diplomatic relations and withdrew the rest of its legation staff. New Zealand has no direct diplomatic representation in Moscow.

This was the first time that a Russian diplomatic official has been declared persona non grata in New Zealand.

Woman Is Fined $150 After Traffic Crash

Margaret L. Hall, 38, of 667 Jennings Ave., who was charged with driving while intoxicated after she was involved in a two-car accident at the intersection of W. State St. and Sharp Ave. at 9:31 p.m. Tuesday, was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer Wednesday.

Police said the accident occurred when she drove left of center and struck a car operated by Paul E. Brooks, 37, of 762 W. Pershing St.

Fined $15 and costs Wednesday for reckless operation was Cecil G. Walker, 47, of the Western Reserve Rd., Canfield. His car skidded into a tree in front of 525 N. Lincoln Ave. at 12:35 Tuesday morning.

Ben Bella Gets Hero Welcome

Set for Triumphant Entry Into Oran

ALGIERS (AP)—Dissident Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella was expected to stage a triumphal entrance into Oran today and establish himself as the power of western Algeria.

The leftist deputy premier, who split with Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda's moderate regime on the eve of Algerian independence, made his delayed return to Algeria Wednesday and received a hero's welcome.

Thousands of Moslems turned out to greet him as he journeyed from the Moroccan frontier to Tlemcen, 75 miles south of Oran, Algeria's second city.

His next stop was Oran, where thousands of his armed supporters already were in control. Then he planned to proceed to Algiers and a possible showdown with Ben Khedda over leadership of the fledgling Algerian nation.

In Algiers, Ben Khedda's regime was reported growing increasingly uneasy as Ben Bella demonstrated his hold on the Moslem masses on his journey through western Algeria. But Ben Bella struck a moderate pose.

Addressing a crowd of 6,000 Wednesday in the sports stadium at Tlemcen, Ben Bella made no direct mention of his rift with Ben Khedda. But he expressed hope that the new nation would solve its difficulties through the cooperation of the army, the people and the government.

Ben Bella spoke from a position of strength. He has the support of the 45,000-man liberation army now returning from exile in Morocco and Tunisia and of a great share of the former Moslem guerrilla units inside Algeria. And obviously he is the idol of western Algeria's Moslem civilians.

Ben Bella broke with Ben Khedda on the announced issue of Ben Khedda's dismissal of the three top officers of the liberation army for allegedly planning a military dictatorship for Algeria. Underlying the rift, however, is Ben Bella's opposition to Ben Khedda's policy of close cooperation with France. Ben Bella advocates sweeping socialism in Algeria in an Arab vein.

Slayton Won't Make Solo Space Flight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Astronaut Donald K. (Deke) Slayton has lost his solo flight space wings because of heart trouble.

The 38-year-old Air Force major, a former jet test pilot, bowed reluctantly Wednesday to the prospect of ground duty in Project Mercury.

This will involve engineering and planning work on the Mercury, Gemini and Apollo projects and other programs of the Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston.

James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said Slayton is not definitely ruled out of participation in the two-man Gemini and three-man Apollo flights that will follow the one-man Mercury experiments.

"We are not crossing every bridge in the future," Webb said. The decision on Slayton virtually assures an Air Force colleague, Maj. Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr., of an early try at space travel.

Cooper, 35, well may be the next astronaut aloft after the forthcoming 6-orbit attempt of Navy Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra Jr. Schirra's flight is tentatively planned for early September and the Cooper mission might be the last on the schedule for 1962.

The grounding of Slayton was announced Wednesday at a news conference by Dr. Robert S. Gilruth, director of NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center.

Slayton's irregular heart action, called atrial fibrillation, came to light last spring shortly before he was scheduled to make an orbital flight. He was replaced by Lt. Cmdr. Malcolm Scott Carpenter. Gilruth said Slayton's general health is excellent.

Business Main Recipient of $1.5-Billion Cut

Law Also Gives Relief to Farmers, Professional People

WASHINGTON (AP) — The biggest federal tax cut of any kind since 1954 went into effect today. Business gets the bulk of the $1.5-billion reduction, designed to spur faster economic growth.

President Kennedy announced the cut Wednesday and noted that the principal pressure for it came from the business community. Many businessmen have been extremely critical of his policies in recent months.

Quick Import on Economy

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon told a news conference the tax cut—which also will benefit professional people and farmers—should have a quick impact on the economy. He said many businesses have promised to use tax savings to increase their investments in the latest machinery and equipment. And he forecast an upturn in orders for these items in the next couple of months.

The action, ordered by the Treasury which didn't need congressional approval, offers larger tax deductions to firms investing in newer, more efficient facilities. And larger deductions obviously will mean lower tax payments.

Reaction Favorable

Initial reaction from business spokesmen and congressional leaders generally was favorable. The sweeping overhaul of the tax depreciation system—the first in at least two decades—was designed specifically to meet business complaints that the old system was stunting economic progress.

Kennedy ordered a speed-up in the depreciation studies a month ago because he was anxious to produce quick evidence of a willingness to help business and of a sympathy for business problems. Had there been no steel price crisis in April and no stock mar-

Camera 'Catches' 3 In Bank Holdup

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland police appealed to the public today to introduce them to a trio of silent movie stars.

Pictures were taken by a hidden camera Wednesday of three gunmen who robbed the St. Clair Savings Association of $13,365, and shots from the film were reprinted in newspapers and shown on television.

Five years ago—in April 1957—a camera concealed in this same office shot film sequences of a $2,500 holdup and the pictures led to arrest of the robbers.

Many calls came into police Wednesday night, but none provided good leads, detectives said. A large group of policemen watched the 2½-minute strip of film and also received copies of still pictures made from it.

No customers were in the office when the gunmen herded three women tellers and a clerk to the side, filled a brief case with cash, and fled in a stolen car driven by a fourth man and found abandoned later a few blocks away.

Two of the tellers pushed silent alarm buttons that set the camera in motion. Although the pictures were a bit fuzzy, they included shots of all three holdup men who entered the bank.

Space Agency Calls for 2 New Types of Moon Ships

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's space agency has called for two new type of moon ships.

One would shuttle between a lunar satellite and the moon's surface. The other would take two men directly from the earth to the moon and back.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration asked the aerospace industry Wednesday to send in proposals for development of the first vehicle. NASA Administrator James E. Webb said the agency hoped to be able to let contracts within three months.

Plans for the second vehicle would take longer to study, he said.

In other developments on the moon front:

—NASA disclosed it has started a study in detail of designs for an unmanned vehicle to provide support for the crews that visit the moon.

—The space agency said it is looking for suitable areas for landing spacecraft returning to earth from the moon.

The shuttle or lunar excursion vehicle would be a glass-enclosed cockpit for two men. It would be lodged in the nose of a three-man Apollo spacecraft and would be sent on a 72-hour journey to the area of the moon by an advanced Saturn C5 rocket.

The Apollo, with the miniature craft in its nose, would go into orbit about 100 miles above the moon. Two of the three crew members would climb into the excursion capsule, detach it from the mother craft, and descend to about 50,000 feet above the moon for closer examination of the surface.

If landing prospects appeared unfavorable the capsule would return to the orbiting mother craft. If everything was all right, it could hover directly over the moon's surface and then land.

After the men had explored the moon for two to four days, they would take off, hook up with the orbiting Apollo craft, and blast off for the return trip to the earth.

Nevada Nuclear Test Postponed

CAMP MERCURY, Nev. (AP)—An above-ground nuclear explosion scheduled today at the Nevada test site, was postponed until Friday because of unfavorable winds.

The low-power blast will be the second aerial shot since the United States resumed atmospheric tests, after a moratorium since 1958, with a similar detonation last Saturday.

A small atomic device was exploded underground Wednesday, thrusting skyward a geyser of earth and causing a ball of fire and a flash as bright as the morning sun.

Observers 30 miles away said there was no sound or shock wave. They could see only a billowing white cloud, which officials said rose to 11,000 feet.

The device was described as 20 kilotons or less. A kiloton is equal to 1,000 tons of TNT.

WINDFALL FOR CAMPERS — Deep in Kentucky's 20,000-acre Cumberland Gap National Historical Park a 166-campsite area—the Wilderness Road Campground—is being caved out of a mountaintop. The camp sites, an innovation in historical parks, overlook the view above and will be available Aug. 1 free of all cost. Campfire wood also is free. Campground commemorates road made famous by explorer Dr. Thomas Walker, and by Daniel Boone.

The Good Mullins News

The misgivings and laments Salem people had when American-Standard transferred its then-owned Youngstown Kitchens Division to Warren nearly four years ago have given way to cheers, following yesterday's announcement by the new Mullins Manufacturing Company management that all Mullins operations will be centered in Salem.

Robert Potter and the other corporate officers of the company discovered within six months after buying the firm last October from American-Standard that it would be economically unwise to try to operate the kitchens division at the Warren plant and the contract stamping facilities in Salem. Fortunately, the local facilities are adequate to accommodate all combined Mullins operations.

Mullins intends to maintain its leadership in the kitchens industry and the economies and efficiencies created by the consolidation are bound to reflect increased business for the company and better employment for Salem people. Company officials are hopeful that the 371 persons at work today will be doubled by the year-end.

THE CONSOLIDATION was made at this time in order that "tooling up" can begin quickly for early production of Mullins' all-new 1963 kitchen lines which will be all-wood, steel and plastic laminated products. Meanwhile, the other steel fabricating work at the local plant continues uninterrupted and optimism prevails over the Lehmann & Thropp subsidiary which also is busy in the local plant.

It's quite obvious that the new Mullins administration wants to be in Salem and although we sympathize with Warren, which is losing its plant there, they now know how most Salem people felt when American-Standard officials decided the ill-fated move to Warren in 1958.

Bob Potter is a former Salem resident and we're happy that he will be making his residence here. His earlier activities in industrial and civic programs support our confidence in his ability to lead the new Mullins Company into an even greater era of economic prosperity in the years that lie ahead.

Who Understands the Stock Market?

If reducing the margin requirement for stock market purchasing could invigorate the entire economy, that would be as astounding as stopping a nervous breakdown by sipping cold water.

Stock market speculators will feel better if they can put down half the price of a purchase and pay the other half later. It makes an easier, looser game than putting up 70 per cent and leaving only 30 per cent hanging for the future.

Perhaps they will feel so good they will infect others with their good feeling and take some heat off the government for what some people are calling a setback and others are referring to as an adjustment.

In the long view the change in margin requirements will be of no more consequence than an aspirin tablet taken during an attack of flu. At best it can be no better than a palliative. At worst it can be no worse than a gesture.

If one thing can be said against it, the flaw is the misconception it will give rise to among those who expect too much. When nothing happens they will be over-pessimistic in the same degree that they were over-optimistic.

That is the characteristic of stock-market reaction—that it fluctuates wildly. Some have compared it unkindly with the reaction of a flock of scared chickens, but a more accurate comparison would be with a flock of frantic sheep. Chickens never follow a leader; sheep always do.

The reactions of neither can be foretold with accuracy, however, and this is equally true of stock market reactions. Among the few people alive who claim to know something about them there is no agreement. Reducing the margin requirement from 70 to 50 per cent will make speculators feel better, but no one knows for how long or to what avail.

McNamara's Weak Spot

The reason Defense Secretary McNamara made no headway in trying to argue the nation's governors out of their opposition to National Guard manpower cuts may have been his revelation that the reductions would not save any money.

This seems paradoxical because ordinarily one would suspect the governors' opposition to National Guard cuts would be based upon the money flowing into their states from the federal coffers to support the reserve units.

But if the chief executives of the states based their dislike of the Defense Department's cutback proposals on the money angle assuming the reduction of National Guard forces from 400,000 to 362,000 men actually would save money, they would be subject to criticism on the grounds they were engaging in the old American custom of favoring governmental thrift unless they or their states were affected.

This custom is particularly evident when Defense Department activities are involved. Everybody is in favor of cutting down on unnecessary military expenses except those that reward him.

When Mr. McNamara said, however, that no money would be shaved from the National Guard budget as a result of the manpower cutbacks, he cut the rug from under himself as far as enlisting support in his argument with the governors is concerned.

The net effect among us laymen is to wonder what all the fuss is about if tax revenue savings are not at issue. Admirable as the desire to modernize and reorganize the National Guard operation may be, it is difficult to stand against the governors without some tangible weapon like money.

The total number of men that would be involved in the manpower cutback is 38,000, which averages out to less than 1,000 men per state.

With no money savings promised, that hardly seems a big enough thing to create a major federal-state argument about.

Untold wealth can get you into trouble if it's untold on your income tax report.

If you want to keep your friends just be good for nothing when they ask for a loan.

Vive La France

By Truman Twill

Three experts took care of our vacation inspections in Paris and Britain. This is to acknowledge our gratitude.

Two of the three were our older son and his wife, who have lived in England since last September. The other was Jacques Tharaldsen, who took charge of us in Paris.

All three were so well-versed in the background of what we saw that our conversations frequently concerned what we were thinking more than what we were seeing. We were especially impressed with M. Tharaldsen's flair for putting meaning into sight-seeing.

He loves his native Paris. He hopes always to be able to live in it. Everything about his wonderful city prompts him to bring forth more passages of history to explain its origins and developments. He made us understand what motivates Frenchmen like him — and we hope there may be upward of 70 million.

We saw soldiers with guns at the ready in Paris. Gendarmes walked in twos and threes to discourage attack by fanatics. Inflammatory signs were painted on walls. It took M. Tharaldsen's explanation that irreconcilability over Algeria was as hard to deal with as it had been in our own Civil War to put things into perspective.

His thoughtful explanations about Napoleon answered our questions about the unusual authority given to President Charles de Gaulle. France is striving to restore itself to major-power status. Frenchmen never will forget Napoleon.

Air France, M. Tharaldsen's employer, boasts it is the "world's largest airline," meaning it covers the greatest distances of all the flag line that now lace this shrinking globe in a network of aviation services. France is making a larger place for itself than it was consigned to when it collapsed under the Nazi blitzkrieg in 1940.

Everybody admires Paris as a rare urban flower of civilization — a shimmer of loveliness and laughter that has bedazzled men for centuries. Everybody knows what happens when the boys see Parée—whee and gee!

But now, thanks to M. Tharaldsen, we know what goes on beneath the shimmer. Paris is the dynamo for a new France led by the stubborn general who refused to go to pieces under the blitzkrieg.

French school children were visiting Versailles the day we were there. They were as goggle-eyed as we were at what the revolutionists left of this incredible monument to the extravagance of Louis XIV, the great king who had to build everything king-size to take care of the huge court that kept him in power. Frenchmen are as proud of what his extravagances did for their culture as they are of what Napoleon's excesses did for French militarism. But these things are past and gone.

Today it's nuclear fission, a stable currency, high employment in a booming industrial economy, great international organizations like Air France and earnest young men like our friend Tharaldsen who matter — these things and the unquenchable French passion for individual liberty. They are all that matter now.

M. Tharaldsen said when we parted, "I don't see how anyone could have been shown more than you've seen in the short time you were here."

Only because we saw it through hour understanding eyes, monsieur, and learned about it through your understanding heart. Thank you and the great airline that made it possible for us to be your friends.

From now on "Vive la France!" for us will have double meaning.

Which Makes It Somewhat Unanimous

'Wall' Belies Red Paradise

Victor Riesel, enroute to Europe for material for future columns, has invited a number of prominent persons to be his "guest columnists" until he resumes his daily writings. Today's "guest" is the mayor of West Berlin.

By WILLY BRANDT

There are many reasons why the Communists last August sealed off East Berlin with a wall of barbed wire and concrete blocks, making a vast prison camp of East Berlin and the Soviet Zone of Germany. Among these reasons, perhaps the most important of all, was to put an end to the mass exodus of young people and skilled workers, the lifeblood of a country's economy.

Many people are aware of the fact that three million persons escaped from Communist terror in the so-called German Democratic Republic before the Wall went up. But what is sometimes forgotten is that fully half of these were under 25 years of age! And one-third of them were skilled workers!

THIS FLIGHT of youth and skilled workers is irrefutable proof of the ultimate bankruptcy of Communism, not only politically but economically as well.

After all, Communism is portrayed by its proponents as the paradise of the worker. The lesson of Berlin is that whenever the worker is given a free choice, he will choose freedom.

The same can be said of youth. It appears that no amount of brainwashing can remove the drive for freedom among young people. One should not forget that these young people of East Germany never knew freedom until they crossed the sector border into West Berlin.

For nearly 30 years, the people of the Soviet Zone have lived in slavery first under the Nazis, then under the Communists. The bray of radio propaganda and the screams of the giant slogans across the roads could not lessen the magnetic pull of freedom.

We in West Berlin are proud of our city's role as a magnet, proud of the fact that more than any other people, we stand as a living symbol for freedom. This doesn't mean that the Wall does not make us sad; of course it does. But still we believe that the day will come when there no longer will be a wall, when there will be a single, unified Berlin within the framework of a single, unified Germany.

IN WORKING toward that day, our job in Berlin is to preserve our freedom, expand our economy and continue to develop our city as an attractive place in which to live and work and as a home for the arts and sciences. When the Communists put up the Wall of Shame on Aug. 13, 1961, they fell prey to the illusion that this would bring about the downfall of our city. They were mistaken, as they have been so often in the past.

Although the Wall did close off the escape route to freedom for millions of people, it could not undermine confidence in the future of the city. Industrial orders received by West Berlin, still the largest industrial city between Paris and Moscow, have not declined.

More money is going into savings accounts than is being withdrawn. Savings on deposit in November 1960 totaled $442 million, but by November 1961 they had climbed to $490 million.

MANY THOUSANDS of skilled workers from West Germany have applied for jobs in West Berlin; some 7,000 already have found permanent positions. For several months now, more people have come to West Berlin than have left.

This fact is most significant. When the Wall went up, the West Berlin labor market lost more than 60,000 wage earners. This represents the number of East German "border crossers" who, until Aug. 13, 1961, passed the sector borders each day from East Berlin and neighboring areas of East Germany to work in West Berlin.

Because of an increase in efficiency and productivity and because of the flow of workers from West Germany, industrial output has continued to increase, even after Aug. 13, 1961.

For instance, in April 1962, production in the processing industries was up 3.4 per cent over the same month in 1961. During the same period, production of consumer goods rose 6.6 per cent. In the year the Wall went up, 1961, capital spending in West Berlin increased 10.9 per cent over pre-Wall 1960.

ALL THIS points up a degree of confidence in the economic viability of West Berlin that must have confounded Premier Khrushchev and his agents in East Germany. Not only are more workers coming, but they are showing that they mean to stay. Our population is actually increasing.

And so many young people in West Berlin have decided to start families that license bureaus have to handle long waiting lines for marriage applications.

This confidence in West Berlin is being demonstrated not only by the young and adventurous but also by the seasoned and cautious.

More and more hard-headed American businessmen are opening up enterprises in West Berlin. Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith opened a branch office in Berlin after the Wall was built.

Yale & Towne recently announced it will open a plant in Berlin; other American firms are expected to follow suit.

OUR WESTERN allies, notably the United States, along with the government of West Germany have been helping not only with words but with deeds. Shortly after Aug. 13, 1961, the government in Bonn set aside about $125 million to help us speed our long-range planning and to provide vacation money for every West Berliner.

Beginning July 1, the federal government is providing tax benefits and capital credits on a wider scale to boost West Berlin as an attractive place to work and to locate new industries.

Our government in West Berlin is equally confident. We recently voted $76 million to expand transportation, recreation and cultural facilities in 1963 — an increase of $6 million over the sum planned for 1962.

The point is clear and basic. We believe in ourselves; we believe in our government in Bonn; we believe in the Western alliance, particularly the United States.

It is the Truth that makes man free. But the Wall is physical proof of a Lie. It proves the claim that Communism is a workers' paradise is false. And history has proved that a Lie can never destroy the Truth.

Red China's Problem

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Famine Threatens Communist Regime's Power

GENEVA

The Communist delegation from Peking which is attending a 14-member conference here on the Laos problem is worried, mainly about the possibility of an invasion of Red China. This is indicated, too, by a recent speech by Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The truth is that Red China is in deep trouble. This could erupt into revolution this year or next — in fact, any day now. High British officials believe that the build-up of the Red Army on the coast opposite Formosa, supposedly to ward off a Nationalist invasion, is, in fact, a mobilization against an expected uprising on the mainland itself.

For a population estimated at 700 million persons cannot be kept in subjugation when nearly everybody is hungry. Official information is that the Chinese people generally are lacking at least 500 calories a day of normal nutritional needs.

The gravity of the situation inside Red China has been described in authoritative reports which this writer examined before leaving Washington. This was supplemented by information from a few prominent Chinese residents of Hong Kong who were aboard the ship on which this writer traveled to Europe. They said word coming from the interior of China tells a tragic story of human suffering.

THE MOST interesting phase of it is the way the Red China government has tried to placate the 6 million man army.

First, the soldiers were told there was no famine. They themselves were well fed. But, when letters came from their families telling of the widespread hunger, the army became restive. So the Communist authorities decided to let them bring their wives and children to the various points where the army units are stationed. This means the Communists are feeding nearly 18 million persons in order to keep the army satisfied. But even this is not enough, as all the Chinese have relatives back home who keep writing about the terrible conditions that prevail in the interior.

The significance of all this is that the Communist teachings have been proved false. So long as the Communist regime promised prosperity and a better way of life for the Chinese people, many persons, particularly the younger generation, believed in the new ideology.

Now, however, that Communism has failed to bring even the necessities of life, the government faces a dangerous uprising which could be the signal for Chiang Kai-shek's army to move to the mainland.

When the psychological moment for the revolution arrives, the Red Chinese army may be expected to turn against the government and welcome with open arms the Nationalist troops from Formosa.

THE LATEST information about Red China is so significant that it has recently resulted in lengthy discussions by high officials, especially among a group of experts in the State Department. A memorandum from a person well informed on the Far East says that the internal affairs of Red China have reached a critical stage, and that the Communist agricultural policies have turned out to be a source of weakness which may portend disaster.

The whole Communist program in Red China, the memorandum adds, was centered on agricultural production for the people of the cities, where workers were to be the core of new industries.

Peasants in the rural areas were kept under tight control. The farm system began to suffer in 1958, and now the malignancy has reached into the whole internal life of the country like a growing cancer.

Hunger, however, is only part of the dilemma. Lack of food production has wrecked Red China's export capabilities. Food was all that China had to sell.

Since 1958 there has been a 60 per cent drop in Red China's export earnings. This, together with the departure of Soviet technicians, crippled industry. Then came a coal shortage, due to the failure of the miners to produce. They were kept on subsistence diets and were not physically able to mine the coal needed. Over all, industrial output dropped 30 per cent last year, and that's quite a decline.

THIS ISN'T ALL. People have been forced out of the cities, and, of course, they can't be fed in the country. There is a scarcity not only of food but of jobs.

The Red China government could, to be sure, go back to the private system of farm management, under which the peasant knows his efforts will be turned into profits for himself.

He recalls that, under the old method, he was working his own land for himself and for his children and his children's children. To return to this now, the Communists would have to abandon a basic tenet of their philosophy. They would also have to put more emphasis on light industry. They would have to provide chemical fertilizer for the farms. All this means a turn away from Communism.

Will the Communists make a complete reversal? If they do, they are bound to have dissension among their leaders. One side or the other would begin to woo the military. Revolution or civil war would then ensue.

WHAT SHOULD American policy be in the meantime? Certainly it would be a mistake to send relief supplies to any Communist regime in China, even if the latter asked for such aid. No program could be adequate to meet the need anyway, and such help as might be given would tend to postpone the day of an uprising by the Chinese people — an event which would mean more to the safety and security of the United States than anything else which could happen.

The best policy for America is to keep hands off and let nature take its course inside Red China.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

out. The law says a man must support his family.

Too Soon Old

Dear Ann: Our 12-year-old daughter showed up at the dinner table with a bouffant hairdo and black pencil outlining her eyes. I told her to leave the table and come back when she looked like a human being.

Her mother said I was too hard on the child and that all kids like to experiment with makeup and also said it's good for young girls to experiment with makeup and hairdos because it's something they will need to know when they are older.

Since I was outshouted and outnumbered I decided to keep quiet until I wrote to you. Do you believe it's all right for a 12-year-old girl to practice adult hairdos and makeup this way? — ONLY A FATHER.

Dear Only: And pray tell, what is she practicing to be — a house haunter? The only time it's fitting for a 12-year-old to frizz out her hair and pencil-line her eyes is on Halloween.

Your wife is doing the child a grave injustice by encouraging this premature primping. Too many youngsters are robbed of their childhood by overanxious mothers who can't wait to push their daughters into the boy-girl rat race.

First Wife's Rings

Dear Ann: I am engaged to a man whose first wife died four years ago. She was a lovely person and a good friend of mine.

Last night Ben asked me if I would like her set of rings. They are beautiful and I always admired them so much when she wore them.

To be frank about it, I'd love to have the rings but I am afraid others will remember them as having belonged to his first wife, as I do. This might make me feel uncomfortable.

Am I being foolish? Please help me decide. — WILMA.

Dear Wilma: Your indecision suggests you would not be comfortable wearing the rings which belonged to your husband's first wife. Why not have the rings reset in another mounting? They will then seem new to you and to others as well.

Confidential TO AS CLOSE AS A QUARTER AFTER 3: Reset your watch. Sister. Half-past 12 would make for a more lasting relationship.

Matter of Fact

Where do shooting stars come from? In a general way, you can gauge a shooting star's "birthplace" by its speed. The slower-moving shooting stars probably have strayed from the orbit of comets. But the fast-moving ones are a mystery. Astronomers say these shooting stars come from incredible distances, from somewhere in the untold reaches of interstellar space. Beyond that, origin is anybody's guess.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: Elastic thread is wonderful for many things. When I had a tiny youngster on my lap, I found this thread was good for restraining necklaces! No more breakage.

My girls sew buttons on their housecoats with elastic thread and it saves the pulling-out that we once had. Usually the bottom two buttons are all that require this. When sewing your little girl an apron (it makes a darling gift, too) shape the pocket like a miniature doll buggy with buttons for the wheels. Use embroidery thread for the handle. Put a tiny 10-cent doll in the pocket and the little girl will be delighted. A new hankie makes a fine blanket for the doll.

READER

DEAR HELOISE: When baking ham or other greasy foods, empty milk cartons are excellent to pour the waste into when carrying the waste to the garbage can. It is unwise to pour grease into the sink.

When sorting laundry, it is time - saving and cleaner to sort it at home by placing the clothes in empty pillowcases rather than on the floor of the wasateria. The weight of each load can be estimated at home so the machine won't be overloaded. Favorite or successful recipes in cook books can be noted on the margin of the page. Then you can tell at a glance if you've tried the recipe and if your family liked it.

D. L.

DEAR HELOISE: Why does a rubbery film form on the bottom of all my gelatin salads?

P.S.

I'll bet a nickel that you are not letting the particles of gelatin dissolve before pouring into the dish. Each little grain should be completely dissolved in warm water. Then add your cold water. Result, no rubbery film.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: I find that using a dust mop on my linoleum to rid it of dusty, lint and dirt is much more practical than a broom which does not pick up as much lint anyway.

Many mops can be removed easily from their handles and thrown in the laundry. What's more, I save several minutes of time using a mop.

An old venetian blind slat is a good device to use when painting the baseboards, to keep paint from being brushed on floors.

Tax

ket collapse in May, the announcement probably wouldn't have been ready until late this month or early in August.

Steel will be one of the principal beneficiaries of the liberalization. Railroads and paper producers also will receive substantial benefits.

Estimate $105 Billion Loss

The estimated first year revenue loss of $1.5 billion will be the largest since Congress revised the tax laws in 1954.

The depreciation overhaul probably means an end to any hope for a balanced budget in the 1963 fiscal year that began July 1. The revenue loss, by itself, will more than wipe out the $500 million surplus which Kennedy forecast in January.

However, Dillon said the government would quickly recoup at least part of the loss because liberalized depreciation will prompt job-creating business investments.

Kennedy said the result could be an increase of up to $6 billion in annual capital spending by business.

Couple Charged In Family Squabble

Charges of disorderly conduct and intoxication were filed by police against a Youngstown man and his wife following a family fight outside a bar on E. State St. early this morning.

The couple were arrested in front of the Gold Bar, 451 E. State St., at 1:55 a.m. Mrs. Mary Jane Mook, a sister of Mr. Dickey, was struck in the nose by Mrs. Dickey and knocked to the sidewalk when she attempted to break up the fight, police said. Mrs. Mook was taken to the Central Clinic where she was treated and released.

Mr. and Mrs. Dickey were locked up overnight in city jail.

But Lloyd said the rally Wednesday has not changed the Socialist provincial government's stand.

The demonstration brought several thousand persons from all parts of the province into the capital.

Committee organizers claimed a predicted 30,000 persons came into Regina for the rally. Police Chief A. G. Cookson estimated it at 15,000.

But Lloyd said it was no more than 3,000 and declared "the size of the crowd doesn't lend support to claims of overwhelming opposition to the government."

The placard-carrying demonstrators gathered in a picnic mood outside the provincial legislature buildings while a 12-man delegation from the keep-our-doctors sponsoring committee presented the petition to Lloyd and his aides.

The petition asked suspension of the medical care act that went into effect July 1 and precipitated the strike of doctors, who said it opened the door to government control of the medical profession.

The plan, designed to provide medical care for everyone, is financed by single-person and family assessments of $12 and $24 a year and by general taxation.

The delegation saw Lloyd for 10 minutes and was told that the government would reply to the petition as soon as possible.

Then the delegation joined the demonstrators outside for two hours of speeches.

The keep-our-doctors committee sought suspension of the medical care act to allow the striking doctors to return to normal service. This would be followed by negotiations between the government and the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons to draft a medical care act acceptable to everybody.

via Telstar to Andover. As in Wednesday's transmission from France, the signal will be relayed by cable from Andover to New York and the three networks.

The yard-long Telstar satellite was boosted into orbit from Cape Canaveral Tuesday morning and fixed itself in an orbit ranging from 600 to 3,500 miles above the earth.

Future plans envision launching of 30 to 50 communications satellites so that one or more always will be in position to relay picture, voice or word messages between continents. Scientists hope to have a space communications network in operation in about four years.

Telstar was designed and built by the Bell Telephone Laboratories of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. AT&T invested more than $50 million in the program and paid the government nearly $4 million to launch and track the satellite—making it the first privately financed space venture.

Boys Finds Ball Field No Place to Drive Car

A 16-year-old Salem boy was cited to juvenile authorities for doing what police called some "fancy driving" on the baseball diamond behind Prospect School Wednesday evening.

Police said the youth was spinning the wheels of his car, speeding and generally "cutting up" on the ball field and was endangering the lives of several young children who were playing in the area.

The boy was ordered to report with his parents to Juvenile Officer Cornelius Csepke.

Senate Unit Studies Tax Plan Changes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee considers today substitutes for the tax break President Kennedy wants to give businesses that modernize.

The committee voted 10-7 Wednesday to approve in principle the incentive feature of Kennedy's tax revision bill. But then it voted a substantial modification that committee experts said would cut the tax break in half.

Today some members will seek to knock out the credit entirely and substitute other business benefits. Supporters of the administration voiced confidence, however, that they could retain the watered-down version in the legislation.

The committee also dealt the administration a severe setback by voting 10-5 to eliminate from the bill the proposal for withholding 20 per cent of all dividends and interest.

Kennedy had claimed the withholding system would bring in an estimated $650 million in annual revenues lost through failure of individuals to report. He had banked on the system as a means of recouping about half the revenue the government would lose if his tax credit plan became law.

Pending was a proposal by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., to substitute a corporation tax cut for the investment credit.

Gore told a reporter his proposal would provide relief for all corporations, with the heaviest cuts for smaller ones. This, in his view, was preferable to the credit.

Corporations now pay at a 30 per cent rate on income up to $25,000, and 52 per cent above that amount. Under Gore's proposal, they would pay 25 per cent on income up to $25,000, 47 per cent on the next $475,000, and 52 per cent above $500,000.

Leetonia Board To Get Report On Sewage Plan

LEETONIA — The Leetonia Board of Public Affairs will meet in regular session Monday night at 7 for routine business.

Rev. William Woodall, president, reports the Board has received information that should remedy the sewage problem arising from a surplus of starch flowing into the water in the village. The starch from the potato chip factory has been slowing up the fermentation process in the waste, causing difficulty at the disposal plant, Rev. Woodall said.

The Ralph Wolfert Co., consulting engineers from Dayton, has said that if the starch be poured slowly into the system, there is no reason why the disposal plant, which they engineered, will not take care of the sewage.

Starch acts as a deterrent to the action of bacteria in sewage that, under normal conditions, quickly breaks down.

er. Additional applications will need to be made at 7 to 10 day intervals. DDT dust applied weekly is equally effective.

On ripening raspberries, peaches and other food crops rotenone or sevin may be used. Rotenone is used as a one per cent dust or as a spray consisting of two tablespoons of 4 per cent powder per gallon of water. Where rotenone is used fruit may be harvested the same day it is treated. Where sevin is used it may be harvested two days after treatment, he said.

For control on roses where the beetle enters opening buds, rotenone is suggested. Apply daily. Control of Japanese beetle grubs in lawns and grass areas may be controlled by using soil insecticides, except from the middle of June till the end of August when the adults are active. The insect spends about 10 months of each year as grubs in the soil, Mr. Lower said.

The Cat's Meow

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—When the time for my next reincarnation rolls around, I have already decided what I want to be.

I want to be reborn a cat—a big, fat, smug, selfish and self-satisfied cat.

Being a husband in this world isn't a bad life in its way. The members of your family usually allow you a favorite chair to sit in. You are permitted to pick at least one television show a week—provided everyone else happens to like that one, too. And on your birthdays and Father's Day you always get a necktie and a card that says something like, "We're awful glad that you're our Dad."

But when you get right down to it, a cat lives a richer, carefree life. With a cat it's Christmas all year 'round.

A cat has it made from birth. It never has to soil its dainty paws with labor. Its brow is never wet with honest sweat.

Unlike a dog, it doesn't make an effort to please the human serfs that serve it. Unlike a dog, it doesn't feel guilty if it is caught doing wrong. A cat feels it is always in the right. It never gets wrinkles worrying about anybody or anything else in the wide, wide universe.

There are times when I look at our cat, Lady Dottie, with utter envy. She will soon be four years old and, so far as I know, never in her entire life has done anything except exactly what she chose to do.

She sleeps when she wants to, prowls the house when she wants to, plays when she wants to—not when you would like her to.

Lady Dottie has my wife, Frances, absolutely buffaloed. If Frances puts a new food on her plate she doesn't like, Lady Dottie sniffs at it, stalks away on feet of plush, and goes on a hunger strike.

In this contest of feminine wills my wife always loses. After 12 hours she caves in and gives our cat what she wants—warm chopped up bits of beef kidney or liver.

In the morning Lady Dottie likes

STUDY NEW SEAWAY LINK—The United States and Canada have agreed to study the possibility of improving inland water routes between New York City and Montreal to permit the passage of seagoing vessels. A link between the St. Lawrence and Hudson rivers through Lake Champlain would reduce to about 450 miles the present 1,800-mile distance along the Atlantic coasts of both countries. The route is currently open to barge traffic.

to stroll out in the hall and watch me step into the elevator as I leave for work.

"That shows she misses you," my wife says.

But I know better. There is a laughing look on Lady Dottie's face that clearly says:

"So long, slave. Go earn me a living."

Yes, if I come back for a second life, I want to return as a cat like Lady Dottie. My only trouble will be learning to like chopped beef kidney—but then every existence has some small problem.

'Big Bad John' Turns Out All Right Guy

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—"Big Bad John" turned out to be an all-right guy.

As Dr. Thomas Baker got out of his car Wednesday on a downtown street, his wallet, containing $18,000 cash, slid unnoticed from his pocket.

A tall, husky man picked up the wallet and caught Baker two blocks away. Baker offered the man a reward but the stranger replied, "Maybe you can do something for me some day."

The stranger would tell Baker only that his name was Jack, then added as he walked away, "but some of my friends call me 'Big Bad John.'"

Put Away Needles, Girls; Hemlines Will Stay Put

By JOY MILLER
Associated Press Women's Editor
NEW YORK (AP)—Put away that needle and thread, Mabel. Your hemline is safe where it is for another season.

Actually, the skirt length's status quo has never been in jeopardy at the fall showings of the New York Couture Group, now halfway through a weeklong parade for the nation's fashion press. Designers all along pretty much agreed on ending matters just below the knee.

What about a dominant silhouette?

Nothing very startling is emerging—it's just more of the same easy, good-natured style of clothes you're wearing now. Most designers seem content to hone their favorite, familiar shapes and give shoppers a wide range to choose from.

Thanks to the First Lady's trip to India and Pakistan, the Far Eastern atmosphere so far this week has been so thick you could cut it with a bolo knife.

Wednesday afternoon there was a brief respite, with only Jacques Tiffau's dome-shaped turban named Taj Mahal and Donald Brooks' harem-pants-skirted panning evening dresses evoking exotic images. That is, if you overlook Cecil Chapman's Byzantine barge, which, technically, concerns the middle—not Far—East anyway.

Young Brooks, who has some of his works hanging in White House closets, pushed the shift into high gear for his Towley collection. The shift, which some lowbrows call the sack, is his pet profile, loose and unfitted. Occasionally, though, he'd insert a darted midriff for shaping, or box pleat a skirt, or break up a smooth expanse of fabric from neck to hem with scrolled, self-applied bandings at waist or hipline.

His coats were slim skimmers or double-breasted steamers. He used a lot of jersey. His chief colors were a creamy snow, jade, a strong pink called rouge, and a paler pink called quartz.

RECEIVE SENTENCES
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge John W. Peck noting that 30 men convicted of loan frauds already have suffered in business as a result, gave them suspended one - year sentences Wednesday. Peck added fines of $100-300, some also suspended to the probation periods for the men charged with illegally obtaining federally insured loans for home improvement work.

"HELLO FROM OUT HERE" — Visitors at the Seattle World's Fair are watching contacts with the Transit 4-A satellite as it passes deep in space. The tracking machine shown here, records the satellite's messages and reproduces them for the crowd audibly and visually on the oscilloscope. Other Transit space vehicles similar to model at top of photo are to be launched to provide a world-wide navigational aid system, perhaps in the very near future.

Major League Teams Swing Into Action Today

Mahaffey Gains 11th Win, Beats Phils 6-1

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just 10 months ago Art Mahaffey's career stood at the brink of disaster. Today the young Philadelphia pitcher is standing at the threshold of stardom.

Hit over the eye by a ball thrown at full force from only 2 or 3 feet away in a game at Cincinnati last September, Mahaffey has made a remarkable recovery, and he is well on the way to fulfilling his great promise.

Mahaffey Gain 11th Win
The 24-year-old right-hander, who got off to a predictable slow start, won his 11th game Wednesday night, setting Houston down on five hits for a 6-1 Philadelphia victory that propelled him closer to a possible 20-victory season.

The game—the only one scheduled in either league—acted as the curtain-raiser for the second half of the baseball campaign. It rolls into full swing tonight with an 11-game program.

While Mahaffey was supplying the pitching, Roy Sievers supplied the batting punch for the Phils.

Midget Racers, Disc Jockeys Run At Canfield This Week

There will be plenty of activity at Canfield Speedway this weekend with racing scheduled Friday and Saturday nights. Two special programs also will add interest.

The midget racers will appear in a doubleheader program with the amateurs Friday, then on Saturday the annual disc jockey race will be held along with the regular 10-race late model and amateur card.

Top midget drivers in the tri-state area will appear. They include Mike Nemer of Clyde, one of the top contenders in Tri-State for years. He was 1961's high point man and he will be driving Red McDowell's Buick from New Castle, Pa. Buddy Martin of Parma is entered in another Buick, Joe Pinter, Cuyahoga Falls in a Curtis Offenhauser and the veteran Bill Spears of Warren will be piloting Cleveland Al Vober's Offenhauser.

One of the busiest drivers entered is Jim McCune of Toledo. McCune drives stocks, new cars in the MARC circuit and midgets. He will appear with the Tri-State midgets in a brand new $10,000 roadster built by Fred Pete of Copley.

Among other drivers entered are Jack O'Rourke of Stow, in a Buick; Paul Riccosky of Massillon in a Lark; Danny Fagnillie of Jefferson in a Ford V-8; Steve Travers of New Castle in an Offenhauser; Jerry Matus of Wampum in a Nash and the classy Jimmy Floriani, veteran from Cleveland, in an Offenhauser.

Class E Game Friday
The Leetonia CIO 4022-E. W. Bliss Class E Hot Stove League encounter that was rained out on July 3 will be played Friday at 6 p.m. on the Centennial Park North diamond.

Orioles Play Host to Tribe

Clubs Will Meet 5 Times In Four Days

BALTIMORE (AP) — If the Cleveland Indians can retain the upper hand on the Baltimore Orioles over the next four days, the Tribe's position in the multi-club scramble at the top of the American League is bound to improve.

Cleveland holds a 4-2 edge in games over Baltimore, and, after the three-game series opening here tonight, the two clubs play a double header in Cleveland Sunday. Meanwhile, the New York Yankees, a game ahead of the Indians, play at Los Angeles, which is in third, 1½ games behind Cleveland.

Ruben Gomez (1-1) hurls tonight for Cleveland against Robin Roberts (4-3).

Looking at the other side of the coin, a loss of three or four of the five games with Cleveland could make the Orioles' outlook a bleak one. Baltimore already has played 85 games—four more than the league leading Yankees and two more than Cleveland—and is 10 games off the pace in the lost column.

49 Collegians Begin Practice For 'Star Tilt'

CHICAGO (AP)—A squad of 49 outstanding collegiate football players of 1961 reports to head coach Otto Graham at Northwestern University today to begin training for the All-Star game in Soldier Field Aug. 3.

The collegians have their job cut out for them. Their opponents will be the Green Bay Packers, who smashed the New York Giants 37-0 to win the 1961 National Football League championship.

The game will mark the Packers' fourth appearance in the series. They lost 6-0 in 1937, won 45-28 in 1940, and won 19-7 in 1945. The pros hold an 18-8 edge in the rivalry and two games have been ties. The last All-Star triumph was in 1958 when Graham, in his second year as head coach, directed the collegians to a 35-19 decision over the Detroit Lions.

Equals Course Record With 69

Arnie Takes Lead In British Open

TROON, Scotland (AP)—Arnold Palmer, the defending champion from Latrobe, Pa., equalled the course record at Old Troon with a brilliant 69 today and swept into the early lead after 36 holes in the British Open Golf Championship.

Palmer's 69 followed a first round 71 and gave him a 36-hole total of 140.

Palmer, who won the title last year at Birkdale in England, played sensationally on the back nine of the 7,045-yard, par-72 course.

Has Eagle on 485 Yard Hole

Thrilling a crowd of 15,000 with a typical Palmer finish, the American Masters champion came back in 32, four under par, after going out in 37 on the second round. He had an eagle 3 at the notorious 485-yard 11th hole and he brought a shout of approval from the crowd at the 18th when he knocked in a seven-foot putt for a birdie.

Worrying about a bad back and wearing "longies" against the cold of the Scottish seacoast, Palmer shot a 71 Wednesday and thus was two shots behind little-known Keith MacDonald of England and one shot back of the formidable Australian, Peter Thomson.

That is just where Palmer wanted to be. He knows how to come from behind.

The eight-man American contingent went off in the early bracket today, one after the other. Only Palmer was in shape to really challenge for the title.

Nicklaus Fires 80
U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus was under the burden of a first-round 80. Gene Littler was little better off at 79, and Sam Snead could not feel superconfident at 76.

Thomson at 70, with all his experience as a four-time Open champion, had to be reckoned with. Kel Nagle, who beat Palmer by one shot at St. Andrews in 1960, was tied with Palmer at 71. Three strokes behind at 74, but ever dangerous, was Gary Player of South Africa.

NEW YORK (AP)—Eleven big league pitchers, led by Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers, are moving toward the 20-game victory mark. Nine are more than halfway home.

The final total is likely to be the highest since 1951 when 13 pitchers won 20 or more games. The major league record for 20-game winners is 17 set in 1903 and equaled in 1920.

Drysdale needs only five more victories to reach his goal. His record is 15-4. Bob Purkey of Cincinnati is next in line with 14 victories, followed by Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers, 13, and Juan Marchal of San Francisco, Dick Donovan of Cleveland and Camilo Pascual of Minnesota, 12 each.

Joey Jay of Cincinnati, Art Mahaffey of Philadelphia and Ralph Terry of the New York Yankees have 11 victories apiece while Billy O'Dell of San Francisco and Bob Gibson of St. Louis have 10. Jay, a 21-game winner in 1961, looms as the only repeater.

Milwaukee's Warren Spahn, 12 times a 20-game winner, shows only eight triumphs. However, the veteran southpaw usually comes on strong in the second half of the campaign.

Whitely Ford of the Yankees and Frank Lary of Detroit, the only others who hit the 20-victory mark last season, have been plagued by sore arms. Ford has won seven games and Lary only a pair.

Flying 'B' Golf League

The Powder Puff aggregation pulled into a five point lead over last week's leader, Riffle Plumbing in the Flying 'B' Golf League. The margin is the biggest enjoyed by any team this season.

Ralph Knepper of the Corso Wine Shop team fired the low gross for the week with a 35 while George Brimlow of the Sebring VFW tallied the low net score with a 47-19-28.

The Greene Oil Co. copped team honors for the low gross score with 155 and the Duquesne crew chalked up the low net for a team with a 16 4-24-140.

A two-man Best Ball Tournament will be held at the course on Saturday, July 21 and Sunday, July 22. The tourney will be played from scratch and all entry money will be used to purchase prizes that will be awarded to those finishing in the top three positions.

Carmichael Leads Ohio Golf Tourney

By FRITZ HOWLL
DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A star-filled field of 64 opened four days of match play today in quest of Ohio's 56th Amateur Golf Championship.

Heading the cast were medalist Dan Carmichael of Columbus and defending champion Walter Stahl Jr. of Cleveland.

Many Names Vie for Crown
Arrayed against them were several other talented titleholders including Ed Preisler of Cleveland and Toy Blom of Cincinnati, both past winners of the Amateur; Alex Antonio Jr. of Hubbard, the current high school king and 1961 Junior ruler; Bob Little Jr. of Athens, current Junior champion; Tom Weiskopf of Bedford who holds both the state intercollegiate and public links titles; Don Albert of Columbus, former Big Ten champion, and Dr. Earl Pinnell of Dayton, winner of the state's first Pro-senior tournament.

Giving the man-to-man end of the tournament a football touch were former Ohio State stars Lew Hinchman of Dayton, Dick LeBeau of London, Pandel Savic of Columbus and Bill Peterson of Cleveland.

Salem's William Harding has fired a 72-75-147 and Marion Heck of Columbiana has recorded 75-75-150.

Seven of the 64 were among 14 who tied at 156 in the two-day 36-hole qualifier and were forced to play off in a sudden death test this morning. The other 57 represented 21 Ohio cities.

Carmichael romped over Dayton Country Club's 6,243-yard par 71 course in 68-72-140 to win the medal honors for the fourth time. He finished three strokes ahead of Blom and Dr. Harry Duccilli of Cincinnati, who finished as winner and runner-up, respectively, in the 1959 tournament and Jim Kennedy, 27, of Shelby, making his first appearance in the tournament after having played for years as a public linker.

Public Linkmen Play Today
Of the 16 public links players in the record opening field of 246, seven made it into today's match lay round. No fee course player has ever won the Amateur but several have reached the finals.

Two rounds of match play were scheduled today, slashing the field to 16. Two more are on tap Friday, clearing the way for Saturday's 36-hole semifinals and Sunday's championship match over the same route.

Will Griffith

Think of Paret In Title Fight?

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — No one, including possibly the young man himself, really knows what goes on in the mind of Emile Griffith as he points to the defense of his welterweight title Friday night.

The 23-year-old New Yorker, a native of the Virgin Islands, faces veteran Ralph Dupas of New Orleans in a bout billed for 15 rounds.

It will be Griffith's first fight since his tragic victory over Benny Paret in New York last March 24 and Paret's death 10 days later.

Griffith, a sensitive, friendly and childlike kid out of the ring, was deeply disturbed over the outcome of the match. The memory is still never far from his thoughts.

Against Dupas, he will revert to his role as a professional boxer, the champion? Will he try for a knockout—his 12th in 33 fights? Or will he restrain himself, his mind harking back to the Paret nightmare?

Emile refuses to discuss the case any further. He has many times expressed sorrow and regret.

MARTHA WAYNE

A word from
THERON at the Old Country Store

Some people tell me I shouldn't make the ladies so angry at me talking them out of things they think they want. I don't do this because I want to hurt my standing with them. They are the center of my business, no one knows any better than I. I need the unpredictable creatures.

I know sooner or later they are going to change their minds and when they do I want to be first in their minds. Many of the people I had the most bitter arguments with are my proven friends today, it's because we understand each other better now.

S. S. A. Winner: Mrs. Emilea Sanders,
1275 N. Lincoln, Salem, O.

Matter of Fact

Next to roses, forget-me-nots are probably the most popular flower with poets. Ever wonder how this delicate flower got such a wistful name? According to an old German legend, "forget me not" were the last words of a knight who was drowned in the attempt to get the flower for his lady.

By DR. H. T. HYMAN

Sensible Boating Precautions

Pleasure boating has become enormously and justifiably popular in recent years. Countless numbers of us spend after-work hours, weekends and holidays on lakes and at sea.

For the protection of the vast army of pleasure boaters, authorities at the University of Rochester have provided the following tips for avoiding exposure to some of the serious health hazards to which amateur boatmen may be exposed:

Do not use a blow torch to burn off old paint. The vaporization of mercury and arsenical compounds may result in the inhalation of fumes that can produce discomfort and even fatal poisoning.

Exercise great care in handling turpentine. Remember that it is flammable and may be ignited by a spark from a cigarette or pipe. In addition, inhalation of its fumes may cause dizziness and irritation of the kidneys.

If the motor is tuned up in the boathouse before launching, make sure that the area is well ventilated. Inhalation of carbon monoxide may produce dizziness, blurred vision, loss of consciousness or death. Even when the boat is afloat, carbon monoxide poisoning may occur under which circumstance the danger is increased since the victim may fall out of the boat and drown.

Expert care in cleaning out sludge with solvents containing naphtha or naphtha derivatives. When vaporized, these chemicals are capable of producing a state similar to that of acute alcoholism.

When using "mek" (methyl-ethyl-ketone) as a hardening agent in the coating or repair of a boat, be careful to avoid skin contacts. The flammable chemical may produce a chemical burn and may ignite if sparked by an ash.

Finally, keep toxic and flammable materials out of the reach of young fry when stored in the boathouse. Stopper all flammables tightly. Post "No Smoking" signs on entrance doors. Keep at hand a usable fire extinguisher both on shore and afloat. Wear rubber gloves when handling toxic substances.

For a copy of Dr. Hyman's leaflet "YOUR HEART: angina pectoris," send 10 cents to Dr. Hyman, care The Salem News, Box 489, Dept. B, Radio City Station, New York 19 N. Y.
